

Data as it is read in from names.txt

Initial pointers during insertion sort i walks to the next name in the list due to the for loop. j always starts one name back from i, and moves back to the previous name due to the while loop